Lawrence Welk

The night they invented Champagne Music—man Lawrence Welk, at least for network TV, they may not have thought of you and me—but they sure did think of a number of other people. Actually it was the night of July 2, 1955. And the fact is by Sept. 30 of that year Mr. Welk had such a high rating and so much popularity that ever since, we have been told, he has had to start addressing his Christmas cards in August—which is certainly hard news if you haven't been getting one of late. Anyway, Mr. Welk is also, we are told, very sensitive about his accent—which makes us even, because so are we. Our theory is that Mr. Welk purposely cultivates that accent—probably taking annual refresher courses from Smith & Dale. Otherwise we do think that after 10 years it would be possible for him to say "Good even-ing" without the hyphen, or even "boys" and "girls" without a double "s." We've gotten perfectly used to him saying "re-hurshed," but when he said, before a commercial, "For shafing comfort dwtach this,"—honestly, he added a "d"—we were umbfounded.

Our explanation of Mr. Welk's popularity is that nowadays such a very large number of people are fed up to here with bands that play songs which have no melodies—not to mention singers who can't even talk the lyrics, let alone sing them—that Welk, who does even his orchestral numbers in such a way that everyone can recognize the tunes, seems like the last reassuring note in a world of dissonance.

Still, any man who claims that the top tunes America loves best are "The Anniversary Waltz," "Liebestraum," "Blue Danube," "Silver Threads Among the Gold," "End of a Perfect Day," "Rosary," "Vaya Con Dios," "Whatever Will Be, Will Be," and "Calcutta," can't be all good. And recently we saw two of his shows—admittedly exceptions—which were pretty nearly all bad. One was an evening of Country-Western tunes—and while we bow to no one in our affection for this kind of music, this show was enough to make you thank your lucky stars you lived in a large Eastern city. We except from this the performances of Norma Zimmer, the Lennon Sisters, Arthur Duncan and Jim Roberts—but even to revive the memory of Jack Imel dancing, or Larry Hooper singing "Smoke, Smoke, Smoke," or Buddy Merrill singing "Take an Old, Cold, Tater and Wait"—honestly, that's what he sang—seems unkind.

The second show featured a Mississippi river boat, and here the low tide of the evening was a tossup between Larry Hooper's "Old Man River" (he sang "Old Man Ra-hiver Goes Roho-holing Along") and the Lennon Sisters, who sang "Kentucky Babe," complete with new lyrics—in other words, no "Lay yo' kinky woolly head on yo' mammy's breast." Instead, they sang, "Lay your little curly head on your mommy's breast." Well, we suppose that's how it's got to be, but somehow we think it's a pity we can't be pro civil rights and still be allowed a few old songs. Next, we guess, they'll be singing that grand old fa "Young White Joe."

as we see it

■ This year, for the first time, all three networks launch all their new shows during the same week—Sept. 13-19. The result may be a perennial method of opening the season, dramatic proof of the benefits of American competition—or complete confusion.

In past seasons, CBS and NBC have inaugurated their fall schedules over a period of several weeks from mid-September to mid-October. ABC would pick one week in September to introduce its new shows. Last year CBS tried a Première Week too, and it went well, but it was the week after ABC's premières and ABC got off to a head start in the ratings.

■ This year NBC as well as CBS is adopting the ABC system. To keep anyone from gaining an advantage, all three networks selected the week after Labor Day as Première Week.

Thus the networks have settled their problem. Viewers, as often happens, will be faced with feast or famine—nothing promising on the air or several promising programs on simultaneously. Most of the conflicts—two or more new shows on the air at the same time—come on Thursday and Friday of Première Week, but there are some conflicts on all days except Sunday and Tuesday.

■ Since viewers obviously cannot watch all the new shows during Première Week, it will be some time before ratings that mean anything—if they ever mean anything—can be produced. Then we will know which of the new programs viewers like—or, as the cynics insist, which ones they dislike least.

At any rate, there are bound to be some new ones that strike your fancy. Next week's TV GUIDE is our annual Preview issue, which includes descriptions of all the new shows, and special color photographs of the leading performers in them. We know you will find it informative and entertaining.

"Footnotes" for your baby

Bonny baby feet...beautiful to behold...worth keeping that way. For proper development, selection of footwear is important.

For wee ones. Bootees for cool days, otherwise bare feet. Foot freedom permits baby to kick, stretch, curl toes, important aspects of foot development.

For creepers. Soft-soled shoes with pliable uppers to permit easy foot flexing.

For toddlers. Firm but flexible-soled high shoes...wide at toes and straight along inside soles for steady support.

Growing idea. Protein is one of the big nutritional factors in growth and the development of all body structures. Gerber Strained and Junior High Meat Dinners are good sources of this nutrient. Know why? Because they have three times as much meat as regular vegetable and meat combinations. Selected vegetables are deftly blended with the meat for flavor supreme and additional nutritional benefits. Five to thrive: Veal, Beef, Chicken, Turkey, Ham.

Fitting story. Tykes outgrow shoes quickly, so it's a good idea to check for fit every few weeks. Telltale signs that signal the need for new shoes: (1) Tightness across instep and toes. (2) No grow-room at toes. (3) Wrinkled leather, bulging sides.

Delectable doings. All-age babies dote on baby desserts. Especially when they're Gerber Strained and Junior Desserts. These delightful custard puddings are wonderfully smooth to the tongue; delightfully delicate in flavor. Made of wholesome ingredients they're not overly sweet...the way they should be for babies. Three strained and three junior varieties.

TV special brings first color pictures of the American conquest of Everest

Photos © National Geographic Society

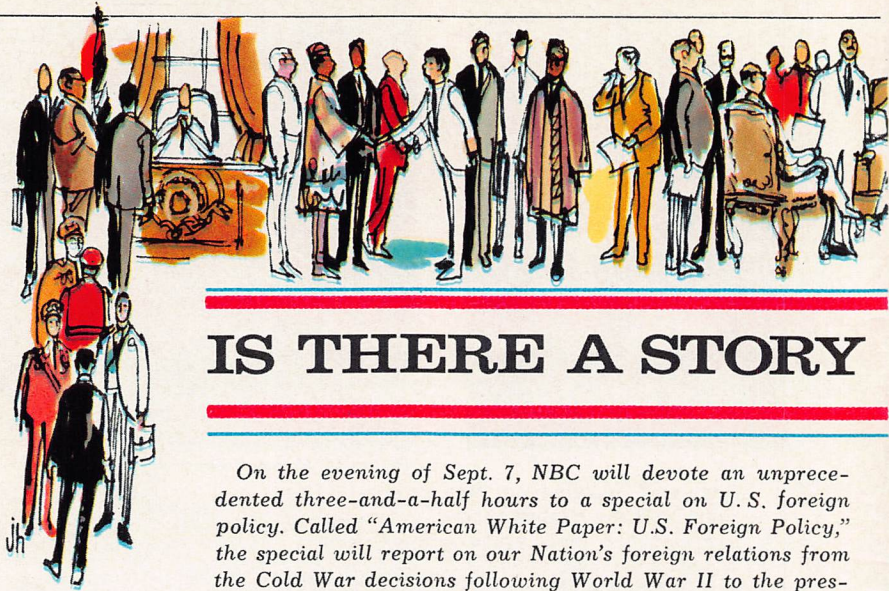

"The wind was blowing at 80 miles an hour and the temperature was 35 degrees below zero," James Whittaker told TV GUME recently. "My Sherpa climbing-partner, Nawang Gombu, and I paused just before reaching the summit, locked arms, and walked the last 10 feet together. We were standing at the highest point on earth."

Whittaker, the first American to reach the summit of Mount Everest, was a member of the 1963 expedition, sponsored by the National Geographic Society, which carried the U.S. flag to that wintry peak 29,028 feet high in the Himalayas. A team of 19 Americans, one Britisher, 37 Sherpas and 900 porters were party to the ascent.

The climbers shot 27,000 feet of color film—the first ever taken from Everest's upper reaches. "Filming at those elevations has its own severe problems," says Whittaker, who took the photo of the Sherpa (above) on Everest's peak. "You must operate the camera while clinging to the side of a cliff, and simultaneously staying out of the way of ice falls."

The footage has been organized into an hour-long color special which CBS will broadcast Sept. 10.

IS THERE A STORY

On the evening of Sept. 7, NBC will devote an unprecedented three-and-a-half hours to a special on U.S. foreign policy. Called "American White Paper: U.S. Foreign Policy," the special will report on our Nation's foreign relations from the Cold War decisions following World War II to the present-day crisis in Vietnam. The NBC Press Department, pre-

That's a good question. It's now 1 a.m. I just came across your memo of 3 weeks ago while looking for a misplaced cable from Cairo. The first question is: Is there a show? Well there is but at the moment it runs about 7 hours. 3½ hours may be (is) a long time for a TV show but its a hell of a short time to examine the foreign policy of the U.S.

Forinstance: in the last several weeks the govt of Algeria has been overthrown, there's trouble in Ecuador, De Gaulle's stirring up things in the Common Market, the situations changing daily in Saigon . . . Well, you get the idea. There's not only a lot of foreign policy but it doesn't stand still for you. Dean Rusk says he gets 400,000 words into the State Dept every day. He has my sympathy. If we ever do another monster like this he should produce it.

Not that we get 400,000 words or even have to decide things like whether or not to escalate, but on the other hand he doesn't have to worry about negative scratches.

Take today.

7:25 am, forinstance. Before, to be completely honest, I was entirely awake. Call from the newsroom with a cable from Bonner in Korea. Says he shot the meeting at Panmunjom all right. Got some great stuff on the Chinese general. Good closeups. But Wolfkill isn't sure the zoom lens was working right. In fact he isn't sure they got any pictures.

I called Bill Quinn in Massapequa [N.Y.]. No reason if I'm up he should sleep. He called Tokyo. Tokyo is flying a new lens to Korea Bonner will try again tomorrow.

Coffee. Someday someone will write a learned monograph on the importance of coffee to getting a tv show on the air. We've worked so late so many nights Adrienne finally bought us a coffee pot. Aside to Bud Wilds: can that go on the expense account?

Anyway coffee, and my usual (ugh) paring to inform news media of the program, sent a memo to the program's producer, Fred Freed, asking: "Is there a story in this show?" Following is his informal memo in reply. It reflects some of the activity and effort needed to get such a show on the air. Identification of those mentioned in story, as well as footnotes, are on following pages.

sugar doughnut. While I eat it call from Robinson in Bonn about the interview with the foreign minister. Schroder has been talking about the possibility of a German nuclear force. Do we want to ask him about that? You bet we do . . .

Cable from Frizell in Paris re Couve de Murville. He'll do the interview but he wants a list of the questions we're going to ask. Cable Frizell they're on the way. Then tell Pam Hill to get to work on them and let me see them this afternoon. With luck we'll have them there before Bernie's next cable.

Quinn on the phone. The priest he knows in Chile has talked to Frei. Frei will do the interview (which we knew) but not in Paris or Rome (which would have been convenient since we have crews there) because he's already turned down European tv. He'll do it in Santiago in August. Is that too late?

What does Tom Streithorst think?

Will he be able to do that and still cover the OAS conference? Where is Streithorst? Adrienne . . .

Mac Johnson knows of course. Somewhere between Bogotá and Quito. Great. Well let us know when we can talk to him. He's got a stand-upper¹ to do over. There were flash frames² in the negative. Does anybody know why? Check the camera department.

By noon Adrienne's cable file is maybe an inch thick. 4 crews filming. Interviews being set up. Correspondents in places like Hong Kong, Bangkok, New Delhi, Nairobi, etc., all want to know details their stand-uppers. Cables gone astray. Cables garbled. Camera breakdowns. Routine. I always hated phones. But the other day I found myself saying to my wife who was calling from Stockbridge [Mass.] to renew our old acquaintance: "Hold on a minute dear, Taipei is on the other line . . ."

Yesterday it was an asst secy state at the Jockey Club in Wash. Today its Hans Morgenthau, on a moviola³ on film. Some drop-out on the magnetic track⁴. Is it in the quarter-inch tape?⁵ John Teeple says no. Morgenthau looks fine except the wallpaper blends into his suit. I guess we'll have to live with it. The viewers will think his head is mounted on the wall like a stuffed buffalo.

Lunch. A sandwich from The Stage, and cream soda. Its impossible to get a corned beef on rye and a malted from the same place? Is that unreasonable? Eat and look at rough cut⁶ China section. What happened to those great shots of Mao? Bob Garland says they're coming in. Everything is always coming in. Some day we'll put up a super⁷ on a blank screen that says this piece of film is coming in.

Collect call from Cairo. Selig Alkon is in jail again. Last month he was in jail in Algiers. They took away his camera. This time they didn't take away his camera. He was trying to talk to Sukarno in the lobby of the Hilton. Sukarno's bodyguards objected. I promise to see what I can do. I hope he doesn't need bail. It isn't in the budget. Half a million dollars for foreign affairs but not one cent for bail. Forgot to ask Selig about the Nasser interview. Maybe this wasn't the time anyway.

Five minutes later Siemanowski checked in from Bangkok. He heard Sukarno was in Cairo. Could Selig interview him there? He couldn't understand why I was laughing.

Didn't take time to explain. Told him to forget about Sukarno. The big thing is the interview with Souvanna Phouma. How is it going? I never did hear his answer. The phone kept going in and out and suddenly I was listening to Muzak. I guess he'll cable if he has anything to tell me.

State Dept—Kate Marshall—calling.

Kate has a list of whom I'm to see of course. Rollie White in Harriman's office, Wayne Fredericks on Africa, Joe Sisco on the UN, etc etc etc. I think she's left half an hour open for free play in there somewhere.

Check Elie Abel, London. Wilson won't do it because of Meet the Press commitment. Tell him ok. Foreign secy can give British position as well. Tell Huntley we've been in touch with Moscow on his idea. Looks possible. Send Brinkley notes he wanted on his spots.⁵ Try to film next week. Lennie (Giovannitti) has cable Stindt, Berlin. Chancellor won't be filmed. He's campaigning for October election. I don't blame him for not wasting his time on non voters.

Now 1 am. Len and I are about to leave. I think. We had to go over the Abel German material. Al Waserman will be shooting Elie there tomorrow. Tomorrow Al will be in Berlin, Siemanowski in Bangkok, Bonner in Panmunjom and Selig of course in jail. And I'll be here on the phone. Where else? And on top of that that acquaintance of mine in Stockbridge keeps calling and saying why don't we ever go to Cambodia or some place.

Does it make sense? 50 people spending their summer drinking coffee out of paper cups, living on danish and corn beef sandwiches and seeing the sunlight only through the cutting room windows? I don't know. I just know none of us would give it up. 3½ hours of prime network time, the full facilities of news at our disposal, the most important story in the world to try to tell. What more can you ask if you're in the news business?

Is there a story in this show? Let's discuss when I get back from Wash.

⁵ quarter-inch tape: magnetic audiotape used to transfer sound from a sound track to new sound track in final edited film.

⁶ rough-cut: roughly edited film, a "first draft."

⁷ super: title superimposed on film electronically.

⁸ spots: segments inserted into show. Script and filming are required for all spots.

There are two kinds of actresses in this world: the kind who opens an interview by talking about husbands and babies, and assures you that they can live without their careers—and the kind who talks about literature, the state of the theater, acting, and their artistic goals in life.

British actress Sally Ann Howes belongs to the first category. An extraordinarily beautiful woman, elegant and glowing, she looks like a goddess—and talks like the girl next door. To wit:

■ "In this business, you don't have contact with the normal things in life. I think you have to have a very solid home life. I rely very much on family life."

■ "You know, I have two children, Andrew and Christopher—my husband's by a former marriage. Instant

The Ed Sullivan Show, The Dean Martin Show, The Merv Griffin Show and Al Hirt's Fanfare. She also has done commercials and TV plays. And if there are any other categories of TV entertainment, she'll doubtless appear in those too.

Sally Ann is a show-business baby, the daughter of a British musical comedy star and a British singer. "My father is Bobby Howes, who was a very famous star. Very big. He was like Eddie Cantor, as big as you can get. He was idolized. My mother was Patricia Malone. She was a member of 'Charlot's Revue,' which included Bea Lillie and Gertrude Lawrence."

Sally Ann's own theatrical career began at age 12. "They were looking for a girl for a movie called 'Thursday's Child.' One of our friends—an agent—submitted some snapshots.

SHE LOOKS LIKE A GODDESS and talks

motherhood! I love it!"

■ "I'm quite old-fashioned. I don't believe in going to bed looking like a creature from Mars. If I feel I need foundation cream or something, I put it on in the dark, after my husband is asleep."

With these important—and socially acceptable—provisos, Sally Ann Howes then proceeds to discuss her career, which is booming. A successful musical-comedy star ("My Fair Lady," "What Makes Sammy Run?," "Brigadoon"), she's showing up on so many TV shows this year that she's on the verge of becoming a national fixture. She was hostess of The Miss U.S.A. Pageant on June 4 and of The Miss Universe Beauty Pageant on July 24. She has also shown up or will be appearing on To Tell the Truth, You Don't Say!, the Bell Telephone Hour,

by Edith Efron

They tested me and I got the part."

Like many show-business children, Sally Ann's education was a somewhat makeshift matter—"I was tutored between shooting"—and it stopped short of university training.

This lack did not deter her. She has been almost constantly employed in the movies and the theater ever since her first job as a child star. "I've had one of these strange, steady careers," she says, "that really has no high point. I've always had star billing." She is best known to her state-side admirers for her Broadway musical comedies.

"She's luminous as an actress," says playwright Sidney Kingsley. "I mean that literally. In 'Brigadoon' she really lit up the stage." And composer and producer Richard Adler says, "I feel as Richard Rodgers does— continued

like the girl next door

that she's the outstanding singer of the musical theater in the world today."

Mr. Adler, who collaborated on the scores for "Pajama Game" and "Damn Yankees," was composer-lyricist of TV's "The Gift of the Magi" and "Little Women" and producer of various White House galas, happens to be Sally Ann's husband. He gives her rave reviews in her role as wife as well as actress. "She has a fine character, an excellent sense of humor and a seriousness as a wife, mother—and, I might add, housekeeper."

She ducks and dodges

Sally Ann Howes may be a superlative actress, wife, mother and housekeeper, but she's a difficult person to interview. It's remarkably hard to pin her down on any subject. She ducks choices, preferences ("My tastes are catholic"); and resists making negative judgments.

For instance, she "reads madly," and is devoted to everything that appears between covers. She "adores" Shakespeare, Margaret Mitchell and Edward Albee—apparently equally. She's "mad about" poetry, "adores" Edna St. Vincent Millay, and she thinks that Jean Genet is "divine."

She also "adores" just about all of TV, and to all intents and purposes is a walking Nielsen sample. "I love TV. I watch it whenever I can. There's very little I miss. I see most of the new shows. I adore Andy Griffith. I adore Bewitched. I watch old movies like crazy."

She also "adores" almost every show-business personality she happens to mention: Jean Harlow, Greta Garbo, Katharine Hepburn, Spencer Tracy, Marilyn Monroe, Carol Baker and Barbra Streisand, to name a scattered handful.

signs of getting the spiritual bends under the pressure of so much positive thinking, and there are a few small explosive outbursts: "Panelists cheat!" she says. "When I go on To Tell the Truth I write my questions in a private code so other panelists can't steal them. Oh, you'd be surprised at the ones who do it!" And: "Do you know why people don't trust each other? They talk too much! I know very few people I can trust."

Then suddenly, a couple of sharp, adult, and cynical remarks about a big star's extramarital life pop out of the lady's mouth—and are hastily taken off the record.

And finally, a possible explanation of her intransigent conventionality and affection for everything emerges. "I'm too outspoken. People are much less outspoken in this country than in England. I know I talk too much."

It seems that she is outspoken—when reporters aren't listening. Says playwright Kingsley, "She's very amusing, very intelligent. What she regards as outspokenness is an engaging frankness and wit. It's delightful." Says her husband, "She's one of the most outspoken people I've ever known. She'll come out and make rather harsh statements from time to time. For example, she'd been on The Merv Griffin Show with Roy Wilkins. Last night at a party she said she admired Roy Wilkins, and a man sitting next to her said, 'Who is Roy Wilkins?' She said that Roy Wilkins was the head of the NAACP. He then asked, 'What is the NAACP?' And she answered, 'The NAACP is an organization founded because of people like you!'"

If these reports about her wit, intelligence and strong opinions are accurate, one is forced to conclude that the beautiful British actress deliberately adopts the "girl next door" role, and pops rose-colored glasses on her nose when she meets American reporters.

NEW LOCAL SHOWS

The "old season" is fading from your screen, and the 1965 fall baby is about to be born. Next week's issue of TV GUIDE will contain the ABC, CBS and NBC lineup for the coming months. For the record, our purpose here is to tell you what to expect on the local level—movies, specials and both new and old syndicated shows.

Ch. 2: KTVU, San Francisco's independent station, has its share of color shows including 60-minute 49er and Raider pro football highlights beginning Sept. 16 at 9 P.M.; Cal and Stanford football highlights beginning Sept. 21; for the kids, a 30-minute undersea adventure with puppets called Stingray. Besides the specials and movies, are Grand Ole Opry, America!, Death Valley Days, Science Fiction Theater and the outdoor series Flying Fisherman. Other sport telecasts include AAWU basketball on Saturday afternoons from January to March, and the NCAA championship game. The Warriors-Lakers games from Los Angeles may be carried.

Ch. 3: KRCA is expanding its news segment to 60 minutes of local and regional news besides network's Huntley and Brinkley. Other local features include Community Profiles, interviews with personalities in Northern California communities; Question Camera, man-on-the-street interviews; and World of Entertainment, show business interviews by Harry Martin. Sport coverage includes home games of the Oakland Raiders and the Cal Aggies.

Ch. 4: KRON-TV's Monday-Friday schedule includes Eleventh Hour 3 P.M., Sea Hunt 4 P.M., Mayor Art 4:30 P.M., Bachelor Father 5:30 P.M., with the 7 P.M. spot scheduling Assignment Four (Monday), Ensign O'Toole, (Tuesday), Men in Crisis (Wednesday), Detectives (Thursday) and Car 54 (Friday). Among documentaries planned are "Early Day Aviation in the Bay Area."

Ch. 5: KPIX begins the season with the award winning "Bay of Gold," a color history of the San Francisco area, Sept. 14 at 10 P.M. Rod Serling's Twilight Zone will be Mon.-Fri. at 5:30 P.M. Among the movies are "Pride of the Yankees" and "The Best Years of Our Lives."

Ch. 6: KVIE, Sacramento's educational station, will carry many of the shows found below on Ch. 9.

Ch. 7: KGO-TV will feature a movie lineup that includes such color films as "Pillow Talk," "Tea and Sympathy," "Tammy and the Bachelor" and "The Great Lover" with Bob Hope. LETTERS

Correspondence for this department should be addressed to Letters Department, TV GUIDE, Radnor, Pa. All letters must be signed. Names withheld upon request.

VIEWER SERVICE

If you wish to write comments to those in charge of a specific show, you should send your letters to: (Name of Show), TV GUIDE Viewer Service, Box 800, Radnor, Pa. These letters will be forwarded to the proper executives.

COMPUTER SMASHER

In regard to the poor old computers ["They Can Do Everything but Translate Dizzy Dean," Aug. 14]: I have another one—"99 times out of 10," quoth Mr. Dean on his Aug. 14 broadcast. Let 'em try and compute that!

Jeane M. Mapp
Lanexa, Va.

FOR THE DEFENSE

Thank you for your defense of Joey Bishop's great job on the Tonight show. ["For the Record," Aug. 14], especially when Frank Sinatra was on with him. Most critics, failing to see that Joey's tongue was well in cheek, put their feet into their mouths.

Mary Ellen Rabogliatti
Globe, Ariz.

'LENNON MERINGUE'

That was a delightful article, "Lennon Meringue" [TV GUIDE, Aug. 14], about the Lennon Sisters. These girls combine beauty and charm as well as real talent, instead of using a phony gimmick such as a rag mop of hair and a sexy wiggle.

B. Harvey
Toronto

"Meringue" really describes the Lennon Sisters! To the mere froth portion of the egg, maestro Welk adds vanilla and sugar to "make the medicine go down." And, like meringue, they are mostly bubbles that keep falling off your fork.

Nelda N. Paul
Indianapolis

PAT FOR PAT

Finally, a mature, tasteful espionage agent. No gimmicks, no Mickey Mouse, just terrific acting by Pat McGoochan. I mean Secret Agent.

Mr. and Mrs. B. P. Lund
Anaheim, Cal.

[Secret Agent, a summer replacement show, goes off the network on Sept. 11.—Ed.]

OUCH!

In your Aug. 21 article "Love Those Poison-Pen Letters!" Eileen Fulton is quoted as saying concerning Our Private World: "The critics . . . all say the acting was good." Evidently she had not read Cleveland Amory's unmerciful panning of the show's acting in your June 26 issue. Or maybe she doesn't consider Mr. Amory a critic.

DRAT!

Every morning at 10 A.M. I settled down to enjoy one-half hour of CBS News. But now it's been changed to 7:05 A.M. Now I ask you, who has time to watch the news at that hour, with showers, cooking, feeding, dressing, milk men, getting men off to work, children off to school, etc., etc., etc. CBS has deprived me of my best break in a 16-hour homemaker's day.

DOROTHY MALONE HOSTS KGO-TV PREVIEW

The glamorous star of the hit series of the current TV season and the world television premiere of the movie which won for her the Academy Award as Best Supporting Actress of the year will come together for a noteworthy TV presentation Friday, September 10, on Channel 7.

The star is the alluring Dorothy Malone of "Peyton Place" and the world premiere motion picture is the startlingly dramatic "Written on the Wind."

The beautiful blonde actress will be the hostess of the big Channel 7 color film offering, and will show viewers, between acts of the movie, some of the outstanding new ABC-TV programs to be seen on Channel 7 starting Monday, September 13.

This "Fall Showcase Movie" will be seen starting at 10 p.m. on Friday, September 10, immediately following "Peyton Place."

Besides Miss Malone "Written on the Wind" stars Rock Hudson, Lauren Bacall and Robert Stack. It tells the story of a scion of an oil empire (Robert Stack) who suspects his best friend (Rock Hudson) of subverting the love of his wife (Lauren Bacall) and is goaded into this jealousy by his wanton sister (Dorothy Malone).

For her superlative acting in this role, Dorothy Malone won the motion picture Academy's coveted Oscar in 1956.

Miss Malone will come to San Francisco for this special appearance on Channel 7 during a week-end break in the shooting of her successful television series.

19 ABC PREMIERE WEEK

ENNA

MONTHLY COLOR MOVIE SPECIAL

Upcoming Saturday Specials are "Pillow Talk" and "Tammy and the Bachelor"

A series of monthly color movie spectaculars will be seen on Saturday nights and holidays starting this fall on Channel 7.

The showcase of specials to be seen at 11:15 p.m. will feature such outstanding movies as the hilarious "Pillow Talk," starring Doris Day and Rock Hudson; "Operation Petticoat," with Cary Grant and Tony Curtis; "Tammy and the Bachelor," with Debbie Reynolds; "Midnight Lace," with Doris Day; "David and Lisa"; "Divorce Italian Style"; and "Battle Hymn."

The first-run color presentations will include only the cream of the crop in the vast KGO-TV library.

Other box office hits to be seen include: Bob Hope as "The Great Lover," "Imitation of Life," "Tea and Sympathy," "Bend in the River," "Portrait in Black," "The Grass Is Greener" and "This Land Is Mine."

007-TYPE DRAMAS AND COLOR SCIENCE FICTION FOR "THE BIG SHOW"

The fourth new season of "The Big Show" opens on September 13 with an exciting array of first-run color movies and the addition of a weekly film in the new wave of secret agent stories.

Thrilling science fiction, rollicking comedies and family-appeal pictures with all-star casts will also be shown, each on a different night of the week.

The James Bond-type spy stories will make their debuts in the 1965 season of "The Big Show" with a brand new set of color melodramas from KGO-TV's roster of titles.

They will be seen each evening at 5:00 p.m.

[SPECIAL] The Pittsburgh Steelers meet the San Francisco 49ers in an exhibition game at Brown Field, Providence, R.I. John Sauer, Gordon Soltau and Bob Fouts report. (Live)

Steelers Scouting Report

The Steelers lost their first two exhibition contests, but their 31-21 loss to the Minnesota Vikings had one bright spot: quarterback Bill Nelsen. Nelsen led the Steelers to three touchdowns—their only scores—to avoid a shutout. It seemed that Nelsen might be the answer to coach Buddy Parker's quarterback problem, but Nelsen was injured later. He missed the second game, which the Steelers lost to the Giants 16-7.

49ers Scouting Report

The 49ers split their first two pre-season games. They lost the first one, 37-21 to the NFL champion Cleveland Browns, but bounced back against the Dallas Cowboys 27-7. The 49ers have quarterback troubles too. One of two men will have to take charge—the consistent but unspectacular John Brodie, or the spectacular but dangerously inconsistent young George Mira.

10 CANADIAN FOOTBALL—Argonauts vs. Lions

The Toronto Argonauts meet the Lions at Empire Stadium, Vancouver, Canada, in a Canadian Football League game taped Aug. 29. Canadian football, played on a field measuring 110 by 65 yards, has 12-man teams that get only three chances to make a first down, putting a heavier emphasis on passing. All kicks must be returned (no fair catches are allowed), and if the receiver is tackled in one of the 25-yard end zones, it costs his team one point. The scoring is otherwise the same as in American football, but the play is rougher. (Two hours, 30 min.)

8 10 12 TWENTIETH CENTURY

"The Sailing Oystermen," a study of a sturdy but vanishing breed of men who look to the wind for their livelihood: the oyster dredgers of the Chesapeake Bay. The "watermen," who work only under sail in aged skipjack sailing craft (some more than 50 years old), use no charts, radar or radio for navigation. Cameras view their life at home and afloat, showing dredging operations aboard the skipjack Ruby Ford; the sale of the oysters at the buy boat; Smith Island residents holding religious services and discussing civic problems with their pastor, who travels the islands by boat; and a discussion, at the general store, of "oysters and politics." Script by Earle Luby. (R)

13 VALENTINE'S DAY—Comedy

"I'll Cry at My Wedding." Mrs. Dunstall returns from Europe on a mission: She promised Val's mother that she'd get him married. Valentine: Tony Franciosa. Rocky: Jack Soo. Dunstall: Jerry Hausner. Libby: Janet Waldo. (R)

5 10 WORLD WAR I—Documentary

"The Day the Guns Stopped Firing," an examination of the collapse of the German war machine, the beginning of peace negotiations and the eventual armistice. Cameras view the disintegrating German Army and mutinous Navy; Allied and German representatives at the railroad car where the surrender was signed; the Kaiser, Hindenburg and Ludendorff surveying their losses; the occupation of Germany; and President Wilson reviewing the troops. (R)

Last show of the series.

7 DANIEL BOONE—Adventure

"Daughter of the Devil." Two mysterious travelers arrive in Boonesborough at about the same time that a black panther begins to stalk the area. Daniel: Fess Parker. Mingo: Ed Ames. Rebecca: Patricia Blair. Israel: Darby Hinton. Jemima: Veronica Cartwright. (R; 60 min.)

8 MISTER ED—Comedy

■ END MONEY PROBLEMS—CONSOLIDATE

It makes good sense to arrange for a Homeowner loan to pay all your bills and installment loans. Then, instead of making many big payments each month, you'll have just one lower monthly payment—chances are it will be less than half of what you are now paying, because home loan payments are lower than those available through most any other loan.

■ MONEY FOR ANY REASON

Most property owners qualify even though there is a 1st and 2nd mortgage. Chances are you can too. Call the office nearest you—your loan can be approved on the phone.

BASEBALL—Giants

It's a battle for first place in the National League and two of the top contenders—the Giants and the Dodgers—are scheduled for a two-game series, telecast live from Dodger Stadium.

The last time these teams met, the Giants won the game, but temporarily lost their top pitcher Juan Marichal, who used a bat on Dodger catcher John Roseboro's head during a third inning brawl. Marichal's eight-game suspension may cost the Giants the pennant. If they win it will be with clutch pitching and the bats of Willie Mays, Willie McCovey, Jim Ray Hart and Jesus Alou.

The Dodgers have spent most of the season in first place due primarily to Sandy Koufax, Claude Osteen and Don Drysdale holding opposing teams to less than three runs a game.

Train in your spare time with LaSalle

LaSalle graduates report up to 56% increased pay the first year

THE DEMAND for trained Accountants exceeds the supply. Salaries keep going higher. Promotions are rapid. Many men trained in Accounting are being moved up to important management positions. Why remain in a dull job with insufficient pay when you can reap such big rewards in money and prestige? You can train at home with LaSalle — without losing a single day's pay from your present position. The cost of training is remarkably low — many students more than cover the cost through pay increases the first year. LaSalle trains you fastest growing pro

...regardless of previous experience or education

ACCOUNTANTS make big money—and there are more jobs available today in Accounting than there are trained people to fill them.

The Accountant is the control center of modern business. The financial functioning of every department depends on his information and skills. You can step up to this privileged position through LaSalle training.

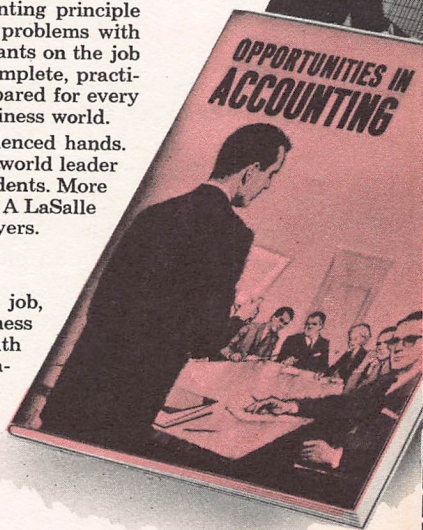

You can take LaSalle Accounting training at home, in your spare hours, without any previous bookkeeping experience. You set your own pace; you are neither hurried nor slowed. LaSalle's distinguished faculty starts you at the beginning; explains every basic Accounting principle and method; gives you actual Accounting problems with your work; shows you exactly how Accountants on the job handle these problems. Your training is complete, practical, and enjoyable. You are thoroughly prepared for every Accounting task you will handle in the business world.

Your career could not be in more experienced hands. For over half a century, LaSalle has been a world leader in business training, with over 1,000,000 students. More than 5,500 CPA's have trained with LaSalle. A LaSalle diploma is a credential respected by employers.

Accounting is a career that offers women equal opportunity with men. Earn an independent income of your own. LaSalle training does not interfere with your present job or other duties.

"Be an accountant! The whole profession makes good money. There have never been enough accountants, but now those who retire must be replaced as well as supplying the mounting demand. The Federal Government is adding accountants faster than workers in any other occupation.

"How do you get into accounting? Of all professions, it is the widest open to hard work and merit. College is increasingly essential to any kind of career, including accounting, but a majority of accountants now in middle life learned the profession on the job, in correspondence or night courses."

'UNITED STATES FOREIGN POLICY'

SPECIAL Europe was in ruins following World War II, and not just cities and towns had crumbled—the old balance of power on the Continent had also been destroyed. To fill this power vacuum, two new great powers moved in: the U.S. and the USSR.

This evening-long program, produced by Emmy-winner Fred Freed ("Cuba: The Bay of Pigs," "The Death of Stalin," and others) attempts to put U.S. foreign policy since the war into perspective, and to point up its continuity and direction. To do this, Freed has divided the show into three major sections, and has spotlighted 10 turning points that have affected the future of U.S. foreign relations.

The segments are titled "Confrontation with the Soviet Union," which describes the evolution of the Acheson-Dulles policy of containment of Communism in Europe, and examines our present position vis-a-vis the Soviet Union; "Confrontation in the Emerging World," a survey of our uses of aid, diplomacy and force in remote, unstable areas of the world (including Vietnam); and "Confrontation in China," which considers the current Vietnamese situation in the context of our long-range policy toward Communist China.

The turning points emphasized: the U.S. joins the UN (1945); President Truman formulates the Truman Doctrine and prevents Communist expansion in Turkey and Greece (1947); the Marshall Plan (1947); the Berlin Blockade and Airlift (1948); the formation of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) (1949); the Korean War (1950); the Bay of Pigs invasion (1961); the Berlin Wall (1961); the Cuban missile crisis (1962); and the U.S. bombing of North Vietnam (1965).

World leaders interviewed during the program include Maurice Couve de Murville, French Foreign Minister; Michael Stewart, British Foreign Minister; Patrick Gordon-Walker, former British Foreign Minister; German Foreign Minister Gerhard Schröder; Peruvian President Fernando Belaunde-Terry; and President Nasser of Egypt.

Among American officials scheduled to appear are Secretary of State Dean Rusk; Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara; under secretary of state George Ball; David Bell, administrator of the Agency for International Development (AID); John Bartlow Martin, former ambassador to the Dominican Republic; Marshall Green, ambassador to Indonesia; Walt W. Rostow, chairman of the State Department's Policy Planning Council.

NBC correspondents taking part in the show include Chet Huntley and David Brinkley, who summarize the proceedings; and Elie Abel, Bernard Frizell, Jim Robinson, Robert Goralski, Ray Scherer, John Rich and Garrick Utley.

At press time, NBC hoped to have interviews with very high ranking leaders from behind the Iron and Bamboo curtains.

Associate Producer: Arthur Bonner. Unit Producers: Len Giovannitti, Selig Alkon, Richard Siemanowski. (Three hours, 30 min.)

7:30 5 8 10 12 AMERICANS ON EVEREST

SPECIAL COLOR The American assault on Mount Everest is the subject of this first of four shows produced by the National Geographic Society in association with David L. Wolper.

Cameras follow the American Mount Everest Expedition as it begins training on Mount Rainier, Wash., in September 1962. On Feb. 13, 1963, the team arrives in Katmandu, Nepal, the jumping-off place for the 185-mile trek to Mount Everest. The climbers complete the treacherous march across the Khumbu icefall at the base of the mountain on March 23.

Films capture the majesty and awesome savagery of Everest as the expedition slowly fights its way up the mountain, establishing camps on its barren slopes. On May 1, 1963, James Whittaker and Shri Nawang Gombu, a Sherpa mountain tribesman, conquer the summit and plant the American flag on the highest point of land on earth.

Orson Welles narrates from a script by novelist James Ramsey Ullman, a member of the expedition and its official chronicler. (60 min.)

Answer to last week's puzzle

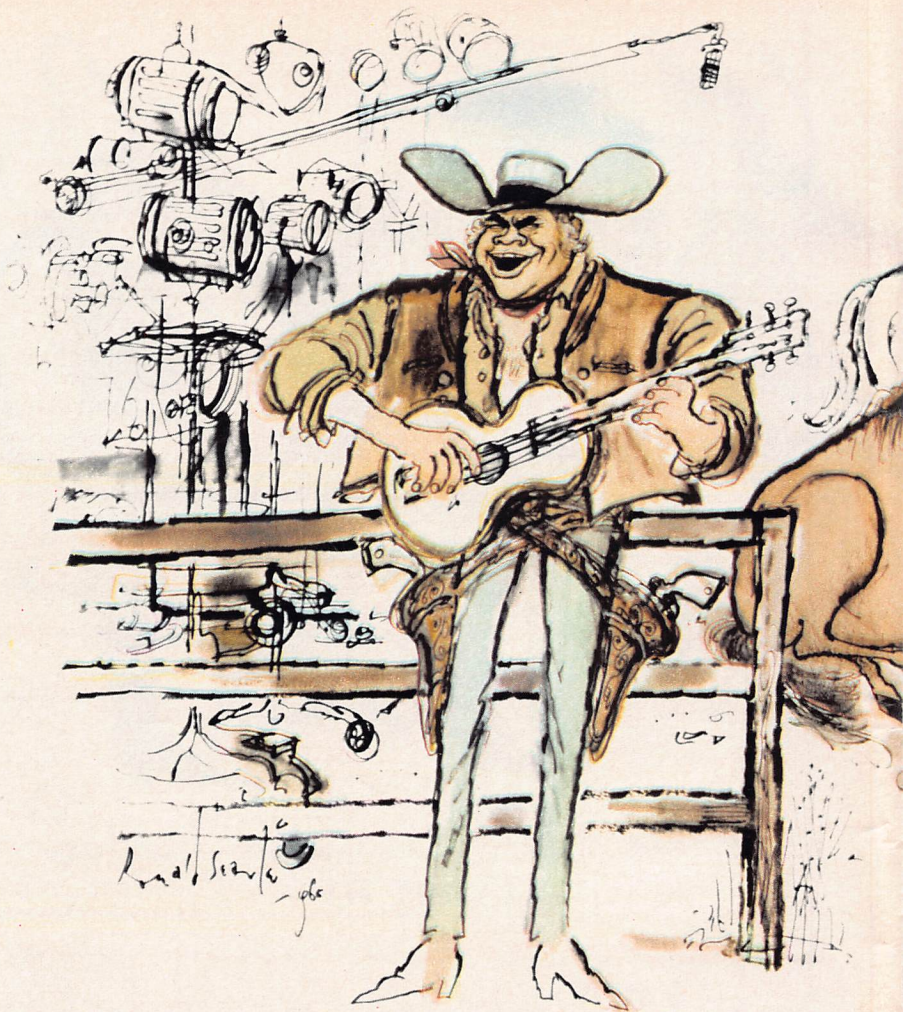

A VISIT TO

GILT-EDGE GULCH

by Ronald Searle

Practically everything that can be said has been said ad nauseam about this sweaty fairy tale and its never-ending success with the ratings. In sheer acreage of human flesh alone Bonanza must be one of the biggest things to hit the TV screens of the Western world since showgirls. continued

Bonanza/continued

To spend a day in the studio with the Cartwright family is about as perilous as being shoved into a bull ring—with only a fountain pen for protection. The wide open spaces of Nevada reach only as far as the cyclorama; and the hitching post between the studio visitor and the steed that rears to a halt under Ole Pa Cartwright (after a long gallop from one arc light to another) seems too frail.

Here, after six years, something should be limping in the State of Ponderosa. However, gravediggers are certainly not apparent in the atmosphere, which is about as sensitive as that of a baseball locker room. Only Dan "Hoss" Blocker, deep in consul-sense of belief in the show. The "Cartwrights" have managed to insulate themselves against the encroachment of better judgment, sex and the Beatles. What other show can boast a father figure who has almost toppled Ringo Starr from the Top 10 with a sentimental ballad called, ironically, "Ringo"?

There is more than a smell of confidence in the Ponderosa ranch house. Right must triumph in the end, and if there has to be any long hair around, it had better be on the hosses—or else. And, hush! That crackle in the undergrowth. Could it be . . . ? You're right. It's money! And that speaks, pardner.

tation with his Business Interests over there in the shadows, belies what would seem to be nothing more than a golden crust of cliché spread stickily over Stage 16, at Paramount studios.

What has Bonanza got that the others haven't got? The answer is Lorne Greene, Dan Blocker and Michael Landon, who still retain a

...AND NOW TO THE NUGGET

Where Lorne Greene
still plays second fiddle to Ben Cartwright

by John Gregory Dunne

"Welcome to Sparks (East Reno), Nevada," the road sign said. "City with Promise." On either side of U.S. 40, three miles east of The Biggest Little City in the World, motel neon illuminated the endless procession of gas stations, all-night used-car lots, and dry-cleaning villages ("In by 9, Out by 12").

In an automobile graveyard, a pile of slashed and treadless tires rose crazily like a charred, nightmarish Tower of Pisa. In uneasy entente, a loan company ("25 to $2500—E-Z Terms") sagged beside a pawnshop ("We Buy—Sell Wedding Rings"). It did not seem a place to stop. Highway 40 beckoned: Winnemucca, Elko, the Great Salt Lake. And then, glowering down on the City with Promise, 30 feet high and 15 feet wide, his presence commanding "Halt," there appeared the beetle-browed face of Lorne Greene.

It was here at John J. Ascuaga's Nugget ("353 Rooms, 7 Award-Winning Restaurants, Home of the World's Finest Entertainers") that Greene had chosen to make his initial night-club appearance.

The night of his opening was just another night at the Nugget—just another Thursday night in Sparks. Three cowboys in Levi's, boots and straw hats stood around a crap table for 40 minutes, and never once was there more than $17 showing.

An old woman with her front plate missing pumped a slot machine methodically, a paper cup full of nickels grasped in her hand. A seam-faced farmer in coveralls asked a bored keno checker if the rules had changed. "Haven't played since a carpenter's picnic back in San Mateo in 19 and 37," he said. Outside one of the restaurants, a lacquered blonde spied the photographs of 22 youths in academic cap and gown—the recipients of the University of Nevada scholarships that John Ascuaga, like so many other casino owners, awards each year as a public-relations gesture. "How'd you like to go through the U. of N. on a Johnny A Scholarship," she mused.

Greene had selected the Nugget with great care. Already a veteran of the rodeo and state-fair circuit, in demand as a radio personality and with a projected newspaper column ("I see it as a combination of Ann Landers, Will Rogers and Ben Cartwright," he says of the column), a gold-record singer with his RCA recording of "Ringo," he had been courted for some time by the glittering bins at Lake Tahoe and on the Las Vegas Strip. Instead, he had succumbed to the $20,000-a-week blandishment of the Nugget, in the Ponderosa's backyard, some 20 miles north of Virginia City.

"This is a family-type club," Greene said. "The people here make me feel all icky inside. Good icky, not bad icky. They just want to see what Old Ben looks like."

Buffing Old Ben's image was a covey of local and visiting public-relations men. "Not a blue line in the show," said one, as he hit a nickel jackpot on the slots. Another scurried about with a red "Panic" button pinned to his lapel and a walkie-talkie with which he kept in constant touch with Nugget Central.

Greene was greeted upon arrival at the Reno airport by the Sheriff's Posse, a local police detachment whose primary duty seemed less crime detection than celebrity meeting.

At his first rehearsal in the Circus Room, he paced the stage nervously, testing the acoustics. "Heigh-ho, the dairy-o, hello, hello, hello." He was impatient and slightly on edge. Several times he snapped at a backstage conversation which disturbed his concentration. He took his routine from the top, cutting and tightening as he went along. Only once did he argue with the director, Earl Barton: The basso profundo voice of Ben Cartwright had just boomed, "Who threw the outhouse over the cliff?"

"'Into the crick,' Lorne," Barton corrected.

"Why?" Greene demanded.

"'Over the cliff' sounds too much like death."

Greene uttered a short sharp expletive. "Isn't that carrying things just a little too far?" It was the only time he stepped out of character.

Circus Room was only slightly more than half-filled. "The gamblers don't like to eat dinner," a press agent explained assuringly. (In fact the midnight show does draw larger crowds in any casino, and Greene's opening was no exception.) The audience seemed an equal cross-sampling from a Sun City-type development for old folks and a Boy Scout Jamboree.

Sheriff's Posse and wives, too

The Sheriff's Posse, in uniform, sat down front with their wives, and Greene's wife, Nancy, an intense, attractive woman in her mid-thirties, watched from the center of the room. "I've been married three years, five months, and I've stopped counting the days," she said.

The Circus Room dancers came on first, undulating in their scanties in a little number called "Indian à Go-Go," and were followed by Bertha and Tina, The World's Most Intelligent Elephants. (No contest.)

And then, Ben Cartwright. Wearing boots and six-shooter, bandanna and vest, segueing immediately into:

*I'm an old cowhand
From TV Land
And my dapple gray
Is a Chevrolet . . .*

"I just wanted to show you folks I'm more than 21 inches high," Ben said. "Just put your feet up on the table and look at me through your toes, like you do at home." He riffled through a series of one-liners about television ("If that guy who glides through the air lands on the gear-shift, it Hertz!") and then settled into the Ponderosa and the Old West, a subject on which his views were at least as firmly grounded in reality as, say, those of The Beverly Hillbillies on Appalachia.

"Little Joe thought the three R's meant ridin', ropin', and rasslin'. Hoss?

He got an A in one subject—lunch. His favorite four-letter word was food. He got his best marks in geography . . . Turkey . . . Sandwich Islands. There were no free-dirty-speech movements in those days. We didn't even have PTA. What we did have was P.T.A.H.—Pa Takes a Hand."

Sun City and the Jamboree loved it, and Greene slipped into second gear. What he was selling was not Lorne Greene, but Ben Cartwright and the Ponderosa world view. There was no attempt to get any further away from the image than the south 40. Yet there was a kind of embarrassing fascination about it. It was like eavesdropping on a grown man talking to himself. In costume. Remember the imaginary playmates of your childhood? It was as if Greene had never got rid of his. And now they were Adam, Hoss, and Little Joe Cartwright and they were good for $20,000 a week.

He has become Ben

"When they come to see me," Greene said later, "they expect to see me as they do on TV. So I allow them to, then transform myself subtly." What the transformation accomplishes sometimes seems to be the question. Greene has so completely become Ben Cartwright that he brings to mind Alexander Woollcott's description of an elaborately mannered actor—"Under his thin veneer, there's another thin veneer." Under the Ben Cartwright exterior lies still another Ben Cartwright. Every gesture, every response seems to have been programmed on a computer under CARTWRIGHT, Old Ben.

Ask him a question about something as down-to-earth, as matter-of-fact as syndication, and you still get no matter-of-fact answer. Instead tumblers click, lights flash, and a memory drum whirs. "We're America's No. 2 export," Ben booms jovially, "just ahead of Coca-Cola and right behind foreign aid." Click click click: He said it in the San Francisco Examiner on March 26; click click click, he said it in Burbank, California, on April 9; click click, click, he said it at the Nugget, Sparks, on April 29. Only he knows how many times he has said it.

Some erosion of personal identity is, of course, the toll extracted for playing the same role for so many years. There is no question that Greene has not been asked, no answer he has not given. But while most actors in a successful series either publicly or privately bemoan the attrition of their own personality, Greene seems to relish it, perhaps understandably. His own personality, whatever it was, was getting him to no mountain tops; his career, however steady, was a sidetrack to oblivion. He was respected by his peers, relatively unknown to the public. Then, in his early forties, along came Bonanza—in every sense of the word. Rewarded for being Ben Cartwright as he had never been rewarded for being Lorne Greene, the man has become a National Institution.

It is perhaps no wonder, therefore, that even with friends he inclines to the paternal Cartwright manner. His huge head thrusts forward, his eyebrows clash, and the mesmerizing voice extrudes words in a stream.

In all his off-camera activities, Greene seems to go out of his way to be identified with Ben Cartwright. Acutely aware of Ben's indomitability, he rebuked a press agent in Sparks who had put out a release reporting that Greene had thrown out his sacroiliac on-stage. ("A star would be bland if he didn't have a little temperament," said the flack philosophically.)

In Mesa, Ariz., Greene has built a replica of the Ponderosa ranch house, an exact duplicate of the one on the Paramount soundstages even in that it has a staircase leading nowhere. (The house is not, as you might think, out by itself on the purple sage; it is part of a development in which Greene has an interest.)

Even in his attitude toward Pernell Roberts, who has finally whined his way off the show, Greene was always the Daddy Warbucks of the Ponderosa. "He knew what he was getting into when he signed," Greene said. "Why not stay, make his million, then build a theater where he can play Tennessee Williams every night?"

As for Greene, he'll continue to play Old Ben. It's made him his million, as he is the second person to tell you. (His press agent is the first.) Not that Ben is always appreciated in places like Sparks. At 4 A.M. the night of his opening, two Nugget patrons sat at the automatic blackjack machine.

"That Lorne Greene is one helluva performer," said one.

"No question about it," said the other. "Merely great."

"You see his show tonight?"

"Naw. D'you?"

"Naw."

In the bar, Greene and his wife Nancy talk with washboard virtuoso Smiley Washburn.

FOR BIG FRY and small ones, too

TURN PAGE FOR RECIPE

Take out the electric skillet or small table hot plate, set out a platter of bite-size pieces of meats and vegetables, a bowl of batter, and let everyone fry his or her own crisp morsels. Batter, meats and vegetables can be prepared ahead of time and refrigerated until needed.

FRITTO MISTO (Mixed Fry)

Makes 8 to 10 servings

- | | |
|---|--|
| 1/2 pound veal scaloppini, cut into 1/2-inch strips | Cut hearts into quarters and soak in water with 2 tbsp. vinegar |
| 1 pound boiled or smoked ham, cut into 3/4-inch cubes | 1 medium eggplant, peeled and cut into 1/2-inch slices, each slice cut into wedges |
| 2 whole chicken breasts, skinned, boned and cut into 1-inch cubes | 2 zucchini squash, unpeeled and cut into 1/4-inch slices |
| 1 pound medium shrimp, shelled when raw, with tails left on | 8-10 fresh mushrooms, stems trimmed and cut into halves |
| 1/2 pound fresh green beans, trimmed and broken into halves | 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour |
| 1 small head cauliflower, broken into tiny flowerets | 1/2 teaspoon salt |
| 4 artichoke hearts (if you use fresh artichokes, remove outer leaves & hairy choke at base) | 2 eggs, well-beaten |
| | 6 tbsp. olive oil |
| | 1 1/2 cups water |

Prepare meats and vegetables as directed above. Dry them well or batter will not cling. Arrange on platter and chill. Sift flour with salt. Beat eggs with oil and water. Add liquid to flour and beat with an electric mixer or rotary egg beater until smooth. Batter should be consistency of heavy cream. It may be necessary to add more water. Let batter stand at room temperature for at least 1 hour. Use corn oil about 1-inch deep for frying, heat to 370° F. Dip meats and vegetables into batter, coating completely. Allow excess batter to run off, leaving only a thin coating. Fry until each piece is golden brown. Turn and brown on other side. (Frying time depends on food and size of piece.) Drain on absorbent paper. Serve at once as they are fried, sprinkled lightly with a few drops of lemon juice.

Rising to the Occasion

When 'The Addams Family' needed a giant, Ted Cassidy towered above all competitors Cassidy (6-feet-9) and wife (5-feet-5).

He stands 6-feet-9-inches tall. He is an attractive-looking, blue-eyed man, but his features are somewhat irregular, and he has a lantern-jawed look. By his own admission he will never make it as a hero, even a tall hero.

The fact is that Ted Cassidy's physical appearance has been the bane of his life, and at the same time, in some ways, a blessing. In coping with being "different," he developed a strong, independent drive for success. In looking "different" he was able to land a regular role in a successful TV series. But ironically, his role is one in which he must reinforce the big, dumb-giant stereotype. And he must try for a lumbering awkwardness that no longer fits him, and that he spent years trying to overcome.

Cassidy plays Lurch—the immense, inarticulate, somber-faced butler on The Addams Family. "Talk about mixed feelings," says Cassidy. "I can't believe my luck in being on a successful series. But right there, in that character, are things I've spent my life fighting—lack of coordination, lack of ease, and the image of a dumb, untalkative giant that people think of when they see someone my size. I try to keep my feelings out of the role. Sometimes I slip."

There was, for instance, an episode in which Lurch is talked into taking ballet lessons. "It was the awkward-Lurch bit," says Ted. "What could be funnier, they thought, than Lurch, in leotards, trying to do a pirouette? But something inside me said, 'Do it the best you can.' I did it so easily that it didn't look funny. They had to shoot it over, and I had to try to be awkward."

Though he attempts to keep his feelings separate from the role, Cassidy's own description of Lurch has a far different emphasis from Charles Addams'. "I think of Lurch as a humanist. An individualist. A sort of

'I think of Lurch as a humanist. An individualist.'

Thoreau. Strong, but intentionally restricting his strength. Independent, but very sensitive to human dignity."

Independence and dignity have been the key in Cassidy's struggle, a struggle that started many years ago. The first indication of his being "different" came at 4, when he showed a highly precocious interest in reading. By 6, he was in the third grade. And he started growing very fast. At 11, Cassidy was in high school in Philippi, W. Va., and he was 6-feet-1. He was snagged for the basketball team, of course. But it was the most agonizing time of his life.

"I also remember the football team very well," says Cassidy, who talks in an open, highly articulate, and almost emotionless way. "We had some ex-Marines on the team. I was bigger than most of them."

Then, too, a week seldom went by without a challenge—"C'mon, Shorty, let's see ya fight"—challenges he learned to ignore or walk away from. "I could have smacked them down with one hand, and boy, were there times I wanted to! But I was afraid of hurting someone. And all I really wanted was to be friends," he says.

"Conforming's the thing in high school," he continues. "Being like everyone else. With me, it was impossible. Some guys might imagine they were Cary Grant. I couldn't. How are you going to imagine your body away? I had to take a hard, realistic look at myself. Independence was the only way to survive. I figured either find some way to use what I have, and live with the rest, or give up. Sometimes I'd think I was nuts—I'd talk to myself as if I were sitting off looking at someone else."

Cassidy's objective view of himself, and determination to use what abilities he had, enabled him to go ahead and make something of his life. That, and the attitude continued of his parents. His mother, now living in Daytona Beach, Fla., remembers the time well:

"Ted played piano, sang, had friends, both boys and girls, and acted in school plays. But nobody really knew how he felt underneath. Ted was the one who had to find his own solution. But we showed him that we regarded his size as a problem, not a catastrophe."

His roles not limited

Cassidy majored in drama in college, though he knew that, for him, acting parts obviously would be limited. (He put himself through college with athletic scholarships.) The roles he played were not quite so limited as one would imagine. They ranged from Falstaff to Friar Lawrence to Liliom, of course, was a banty-rooster type," says Ted. "A little banty rooster who jumps all over the stage. It was quite a challenge for a guy 6-feet-9."

He worked on his singing voice, and was encouraged when Paul Whiteman, visiting in Daytona Beach, asked him to audition. "A second Lawrence Tibbett," Whiteman called him, and offered a job in New York, but Cassidy wanted to finish college. After graduation, he went into radio.

"It was steady work, and by then I had a family to support. And then, you know, in radio I didn't have to be concerned about how I looked," he says frankly. "And I could work on acting, with the voice." He was sports director, host of music and drama shows, and program director for a Dallas station.

During his years at the station, Cassidy still nursed the idea of acting. He set aside five days for an "assault" on Hollywood. The last person he interviewed was an independent casting director named Kerwin Coughlin.

"He just phoned and said he was in town," Coughlin recalls. "When he arrived, it was a shock—he hadn't mentioned his height. I found him a sensitive, intelligent guy. There was nothing for him at the time."

It was months later, back in Dallas, that Cassidy got a call from Coughlin. He tested, along with six others, and won the role of Lurch. And he has been highly successful. Executive producer David Levy calls him "perfect in the part." Ted and his wife Jesse, a pretty 5-foot-5 brunette, have bought a large new home for themselves and son Sean, 8, and daughter Lynn, 5. His prolific fan mail includes many letters from teenage girls who profess to like him better than The Beatles. The San Diego Zoo recently saw fit to name a low-voiced sea lion after Lurch.

The future is still a question

It isn't quite the kind of fame Cassidy would prefer. And when the fad for monster shows is over, for all his ability, he may find himself relegated to science-fiction films.

"I hope there'll be something besides that," says Ted. "But I'm not counting on it." Already he has explored the lucrative "voice" field—commercials, voices for animated characters. And he has made a record—on one side he tells kids how to dance "The Lurch"; on the other he does a folkballad à la Lorne Greene's "Ringo."

"There's another thing," says Cassidy, smiling. "May sound funny, but it encourages me. Remember me in leotards? And it didn't look funny until I made it look funny? Well, recently they dressed me in a very natty suit and hat—I was the new teen-age singing idol. Well, they thought it would look funny, again. Know what? It didn't."

"Who knows? Either you try, or you give up. I'd rather try."

GEORGE MAHARIS will be host on Hullabaloo Oct. 11, and PAUL ANKA on Oct. 18. EDDIE FISHER will probably take a turn later on . . . What happens to former Miss Americas? One of them, LEE ANN MERIWETHER, will be playing a saloon owner on an upcoming episode of F Troop.

TEN YEARS AGO THIS WEEK: PAMELA MASON played NAPOLEON's wife JOSEPHINE on "Her Kind of Honor" on Star Time Playhouse . . . A new Western series made its debut: Wyatt Earp, with HUGH O'BRIAN in the title role . . . On Ford Theatre, in a play called "Too Old for Dolls," FRANCHOT TONE and LARAINÉ DAY depicted a pair of parents worried about their daughter--NATALIE WOOD . . . RED SKELTON starred on Climax! in a comedy called "Public Pigeon No. 1" . . . Front Row Center presented F. SCOTT FITZGERALD's "Tender Is the Night," with MERCEDES McCAMBRIDGE and JAMES DALY . . . And who should turn up on Disneyland but WERNHER VON BRAUN?
